FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., June 4.—Yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, on the birthday of Jefferson Davis, Hon. W. J. Green, ex-member of Congress, delivered an cloquent and scholarly address on the life and character of the President of the Southern Confederacy, under the auspices of Jeb Stuart Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy.

No one is better fitted for the task than Colonel Green. He was a life-long friend of the great Southern statesman, and paid a long visit to Mr. Davis at Beauvoir, only a short time before his death in New Orleans.

The latter bequeathed him through all the veer Mosars, Fidds and Scrogging, Confederace soldiers, received crosses of honor from Mesdames J. D. MacRae and H. G. Smith, o'ffleers of the Jeb Stuart Chapter.

Yesterday the Norfolk and Atlantic Terminal Comthe Norfolk and Atlantic Terminal Company came to an agreement with the strikers, and the Sewell's Point and Ity Avenue ferry was put in operation again, opening up the route between here and Norfolk. Late last night, however, the misunderstanding between the company and the engineers arose again, the engineers quit work, and the lines were tied up again. The line is not in operation to-day, and the Chesapeake and Ohio steamer is handling all of the passengers between here and Norfolk.

The carpenters' union held a big meeting at labor headquarters this morning and organized a building association. This association will do work all over the city, and will probably give most of the strikers who are not already at work permanent employment.

the strikers who are not already at work permanent employment.

Nine of the twenty-three contractors of the city have signed the agreement establishing $2.75 as the minimum day's wages for carpenters, and the union has allowed the men to go to work for the nine. This action releved the situation greatly and building operations have been resumed in many places in the city. Whether or not the other contractors will continue to hold out remains to be seen.

The Turk's Head Literary Society of the Young Men's Christian Association held its annual supper at the association to-night. The society will not meet again now until fall.

It is rumored here to-day that the Old Dominion Steamship Company will lay up the Berkeley and Brandon, the Norfolk, Newport News and Richmond steamers, on account of the strike of the marine engineers.

Ell Winslow, a repulsive and intensely black man, was tried to-day for criminal assault. The jury of the Corporation Court was out but a few minutes, when it returned with a verdict of not guilty, because of insanity. The detectives and the jailers who were called to keep the prisoner quiet during the trial, declared that the prisoner was shamming; that he was quiet in jail, and that he became quiet agnin when returned to his cell. The charge is that he made a criminal assault on an iddote negro girl, Mamie Brooks, of fourteen years of age, last week in the Allyntown suburb. He will be sent to Petersburg, no doubt, and if he

Upon the arrival of the last train, Dr. C. A. R. Moore, Mayor of Mount Jackson, delivered an address of welcome to the visitors, after which the procession was formed in the public square and the journey to the monument commenced.

THE PROCESSION.

This procession extended from the town nearly to the cemetery, where the monument, standing as a lone sentinel to the five hundred and fifty known and unknown Confederate dead, who gave up their lives five hundred and fifty known and unknown Confederate dead, who gave up their lives in the many battles in that vicinity, was afterwards unveiled.

Hon. Robert J. Walker, of Mount Jackson, was master of ceremonies, and in a beautiful speech introduced Miss Sophia Rinker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Rinker, who unveiled the monument, using the following words: "To these heroes who lie buried here, and to all Confederates, I unveil to-day a tribute to you, your brave and noble deeds."

PROHIBITION FIGHT IN BUCKINGHAM

The Drys Seem to Have the Best of it at Arvonia.

ARVONIA, VA., June 3 .- The prohibition fight which is now on in Marshall District of Buckingham county is en gaging the attention of the leading people of this community. The election to decide the issue of license or no license will take place July 11th, and both sides are getting ready for the contest. There are two flourishing bars in the district, one in this town and the other in New Canton, three miles north of here. Before the passage of the Mann bill there were four salons in the district.

Most of the business men and quarry operators of this town are active in behalf of prohibition on the grounds that the bars are detrimental to their business interests. So far, the issue is in doubt, both sides claiming that they will win, if the district goes dry there will remain only one wet district in Buckingham county, and that has only one small salon.
